WHAT FREE SILVER MEN MAINTAIN.

The many misapprehensions as to what the advocates of the free coinage of silver really want to accomplish, are largely responsible for many men finding themselves aligned with those clamoring for the single gold standard. There is a the campaign now closed was the re- class in this country which is vitally and demption of Kentucky from the thral- alfably interested in maintaining a sindom of Republicatism and its gold-bug gle gold standard, and it was this class that through the dark-lantern process, engineered by John Sherman, who was acting as the agent for the Rothschild a conspiracy against the people syndicate, secured the passage of the which will live in history as one of the act of '73 dropping the silver dollar from

Dealing that they dared not return to their exclusively in money, they look only at one side of the question and their every energy is bent toward enhancing the value of that which they have, viz., money. If a man loans out a thousand dollars and can, by any manner of legislation so manipulate matters that his debtor will be required to pay in dollars which will buy twice as much of the product of labor as the dollars he loanon the down grade and is going at a ed, he has doubled his capital by the mere act of legislation. This is exactly what has been done by this class which held large quantities of bonds and other evidences indebtedness of this country.

By the act of '73 they destroyed the ability of the debtor to use silver in payment of these obligations except as it was measured in gold. By making gold the only standard money they decreased the basic money of the country by onehalf and thereby doubled the value of the remaining half. With gold thus doubled in value, as a standard, all other forms of money issued by the government was necessarily raised in purchasing power to the value of the increased

To ascertain the value of anything it must be compared to other commodities and its velue is determined by what it will exchange for in the open market. Money is simply a common medium of exchange which is by law invested with certain functions which make it exchangeable for all other commodities, and its value is determined by the amount of labor or the products of labor that it will purchase in exchange. In the first instance everything that sells for money falls in value and in the latter case it rises. Up to 1873 the money of this country was based on gold and silver coined at the ratio of 16 to 1. A silver dollar possessed exactly the same functions as a gold dollar, and enjoyed the same privilege at the mint and the result was that the supply of money was regulated by the amount of both gold and silver bullion which could be converted into coin, and the paper money issued by the government and redeemable in either gold or silver at the option of the governall commodities was measured in both gold and silver, and if speculators ever succeeded in controlling either of the money metals, the other was ready to take its place. Capt. J. H. Mefirayer, the well-known dis-

Stinate, or What Other Remedies Have Pailed.

Obstinate sores and ulcers, which refuse to heal under ordinary treatment, soon become chronic and deepseated, and lead to conditions most serious. They are caused in different ways, but in every case the blood is will cure the most obstinate, deep-seated sore or ulcer. It is useless to expect local treatment of salves, lo tions, etc., to effect a cure, because they can not reach the real cause of the trouble, which is the blood. S. S. 3. drives out every trace of impurity in the blood and in this way cures per-manently the worst cases. It is the only blood remedy guaranteed Purely Vegetable and contains not a particle of potash, mercury, or other mineral. S. S. S. cures Contagious Blood Poison, Scrotula, Cancer, Catarrh, Eczema, Rheumatism, Sores, Ulcers, Boils, or any other blood trouble. Valuable books on these diseases will be mailed free to any address, by the Swift Specific Company, Atlanta, Georgia.
